

ABSTRACT

A method and an apparatus for testing transmitter and receiver have been disclosed. One embodiment of the apparatus includes a plurality of multiplexers to select one of a positive transmitter pin and a negative transmitter pin, and a first comparator to compare a voltage of the selected pin with a first reference voltage to determine whether leakage exists at the selected pin. Other embodiments are described and claimed.